

More about Lawson

Besides managing his business, Lawson is very active on contributing and supporting various NGOs in his spare time. By being a full stack developer in an NGO for a few years, Lawson puts his technical skills in good deeds by helping to develop mobile apps, registration systems and logistic system. His abilities on problem solving, leading collaborations with different parties and project management skills are strengthened during his volunteering service in NGOs.